This is my favorite bakery! I have gotten all my cakes from Tastries Bakery since the first year they opened. Cathy has helped me design cakes and dessert trays for events I have attended and she is an absolute sweet heart! I cannot believe how much hate is being shown to her for her religious beliefs. I support you, Cathy. God bless Tastries Bakery!

Randy Tinsley I wonder how many bakery's this couple went through before they found a bakery that followed their faith and refused service based on religion? I wonder if the couple getting married really a thing? I wonder if there isn't more to this story? I don't w... See More

Being a Gay couple getting married in May we discussed this topic. If we came across this we chose to respect the views of the Bakery.. Although we may not agree on each other's views, I am Christian and will pray for a peaceful resolution to your problem. It is your right not to participate in something you don't agree with. Betty Crocker is much better than the overpriced and hyper sweetened recipe they use. Plus we could do without the religious bigot owner pushing their hateful beliefs upon the customers. Will never spend a dime here again.

Homophobic religious fanatics own and operate here. Do NOT support such close minded and vile people. If their cakes are anything like their beliefs, then they are absolutely disgusting. Boycott this place and put them out of business.

Congratulations on your court victory.

Just remember....there is no bad publicity.

I had never even heard of you here in North Carolina until "those people" gave you all this free advertising! What a break. Some companies have to pay tens of thousands of dollars to advertise nationwide, and you got it all for free.

Never even knew you existed on the same planet as me until now.

They weren't refusing service to gays. They were refusing to bake/decorate a cake for a gay wedding. Big difference. Y'all act like they threw them out of the shop and not let them buy a cupcake off the shelf because they were gay. Not the case.

You may have won this legal victory but I'd like to say that one thing you should consider is that there is a difference between a civil marriage and a religious marriage.

All marriages are civil marriages (need a government license to get married), but not all marriages are religious. A civil marriage is simply the civil marriage is simply the government recognizing the union and conferring government benefits (and costs) to a couple being together.

My guess is that regardless of a gay couples marital status, your church would not recognize that marriage & that is perfectly fine since it is not a religious issue.

Would you refuse to make a 4th of July cake? That has nothing to do with religion. Do you refuse 2nd (or subsequent)

If you guys refuse to make wedding cakes for gays, why isn't that spelled out on your website? Why invite people into a humiliating confrontation between their dreams and your religious beliefs? It's only fair to everyone that they know what kind of business they are dealing with when they come to Tastries.

If you don't think that this will lead to other situations where discrimination will be permissable under the ,law, then you see as well as Stevie Wonder, and you don't deserve the rights that others have fough so hard, for YOU to enjoy, or shat upon.

Further, just because you are self-loathing, doesn't give YOU the right to demand that the rest of us must accede to your desire to be treated as a second classs citizen. Who knows...maybe you're just a racist or a bigot yourself, and that's why you don't see the problem here.

Why take the business to court when you can just find another bakery. Why would you want that bakery to make your wedding cake if they feel that way. It's for money. They probably knew that bakery had Christian views and was the reason they went there in the first place. I would have just said we are booked sorry can't make your cake if you felt that way.

Stephanie Marie Malena Actually, being a single mom working in the trades, I was discriminated against quite a bit. Men telling me to 'get back in the kitchen' and a ton of other derogatory remarks I won't bother to list due to their nastiness. I have been on both sides. Equality goes both ways. Freedom of Religion is just as important as Freedom of marriage. Support a business you agree with. I won't take my car to a shop that treats me like a child because of my gender but I also will support a shop that donates coats to the homeless. Follow a business that reflects your personal choices.

I hope the owner is proud of herself. How horrible to push your agenda on people. Doesn't your god say not to judge ? I hope you go out of business. I will thank you for letting us know who you are. You are hateful and judgemental and I can only hope you are treated the way you treat people who don't think like you. Love is love. Anyone who supports this place is sending a message that this ok. It's almost 2018 not the 1950's. This is not ok.

Tell me again how you think God will judge others for simply loving, and not judge you for hating someone you never met.

How to describe the work I ordered from them - horrific? Poorly made, tasted like sawdust, everything was lopsided and smashed - seriously, I was OFFENDED at the ten seconds that was clearly used in making my order. And the attitude when I talked to management was rude to the extreme. I'd avoid this place, they really don't do the kind of work you want to pay for.

How to describe the work I ordered from them - horrific? Poorly made, tasted like sawdust, everything was lopsided and smashed - seriously, I was OFFENDED at the ten seconds that was clearly used in making my order. And the attitude when I talked to management was rude to the extreme. I'd avoid this place, they really don't do the kind of work you want to pay for.

Perhaps the owners should start praying for themselves - asking forgiveness for being judgmental and hope the good Lord above will grant them the understanding that ALL ppl are equal and deserve respect.

Baking cakes is an art form and forcing somebody to create a cake expressing something they do not want to express is a serious violation of their freedom of speech. Freedom of speech is not just the freedom to say things you want to say. Freedom of speech is also the freedom to refrain from expressing things that you do not want to express.

I used to work out at the gym next door and the mere memory of those brownies would always call to me like a siren after a workout, dashing me on the rocks of calorie intake. like many on this list, that is always innovating, never resting on its past accomplishments. I always appreciate the unusual grapes they bring in during harvest season, a healthy option that tastes great. Sure, they've added quiches to the case as if they're trying to make sure we're eating healthy, but there's always something new and great, like a recent visit when I found coconut tres leches cake. Coconut Tres Leches. Put it on your must-order list. The cookies are always amazing, and I'm partial to the brown butter frosting whatever they put it on. Those tiny cheesecakes are worth every calorie — had one recently with a fresh strawberry half and dried strawberry bits sprinkled on the whipped cream on top. Sunday hours are limited from noon to 4 p.m. That's probably a good thing for the waistline.

One thing to show what Sweet Surrender does that keeps it ahead of the pack. We're pretty much pumpkin-spiced to death. So many places bring it to everything in October and November. Of course Sweet Surrender takes it to another level here as they did this fall with pumpkin cheesecake creme brulee bars. If you see a few stray ones in the case, snap them up. Sounds berry cake doughnut will startle you. The cream cheese coffee cake muffin, if you can get it, is absolutely worth every calorie. Don't get me started on the Nutella croissant. Don't expect much to pick from if you visit late in the day, as the emphasis on freshness dictates a conservative approach to supply. Not a lot of day-old here.

The cupcake flavors here are imaginative and the closest we've run into with a homemade vibe. Try the tiramisu or any cupcake with caramel in the center. The frosting is so fluffy and buttery here. Hours open vary widely — on a whim we've gone there when it should be open and found it closed. But we still keep going back while in the neighborhood. It's that good at creating food memories.

I know all about the wedding cake controversy, but we're going straight to the quality of the food and steering clear of any political stuff when evaluating this place. The brownies have got to be the best in Swung in here and it is a standard bakery that is easily forgettable.

I would recommend checking out Gimme Some Sugar or another establishment depending on what you are looking for.

Staff was not overly friendly nor attentive.

I have an announcement to make: I have accepted a job offer with Next Restaurant (of Grant Achatz's Alinea Group!!!) and am moving to Chicago in January.

It is a dream to be able to work at a restaurant group that is at the forefront of culinary innovation. I am so excited to work under the direction of Jenner Tomaska. Next has received an unprecedented fifteen 4-star reviews from the Chicago Tribune, and won a James Beard Award as "Best New Restaurant in America". De Coeur loosely translates to 'of the heart or from the heart' in French, and a big part of my heart will still be with Bakersfield, there have been so many life events that my dear clients and this community have allowed me to be part of, and I will always be so grateful. Though the idea of leaving the bake shop open while in Chicago was thoroughly considered, ultimately, I decided that the custom cakes, the wedding cakes, and custom design and execution would lose my touch. would no

When someone comes into your bakery and asks for you to make something that's against your beliefs, have the name and address of two other bakeries to refer them to. One should be a gay owned bakery and the other should be a muslim owned bakery. Print up small handouts and have them near the order counter.

If the courts rule that Christians have to give up their freedom of choice in order to bow the the homosexuals freedom of choice and force the store to make the cake, there's no law that it has to be a good job. Make it the worst cake ever and blame it on a bad day.

So your saying a black owned business should have to not only make a cake for a white supremacist with all their symbols but set and visit with them listening to all their idea and design it with them, a gay baker should have to design and make a cake for someone who hates gays and wants symbols that indicating that hate. No there are somethings people don't have to do even if they are in business. They did not refuse the couple from buying anything in their store they just chose not to design a special one. Again. If it is about love and not money and attention why would you want to force someone to make a cake they don't want to do. i would not want to force someone to make food for me that didn't want to every time I saw pics it would remind me and ruin my memory so It's all about finding a place u know wont do it so you can sue them and financial gain.

Why can't Christians have the freedom to say "No" to what they want to say no to? The LGBT community continues to target Christians to try to get us to accept their lifestyle. It ain't gonna happen. God calls homosexuality sin—take it up with Him if you don't like it. He is the one who defines sin, not me. As a Christian of course I don't hate gays, I love them and want them to know the truth. If they choose to live that lifestyle, they certainly have the freedom to do so in this country—but don't tell me what I have to believe or participate in.

I appreciate the fact that Cathy Miller stood up for her beliefs. She's the owner of Tastries Bakery in Bakersfield, CA, and she refused to go against her convictions and create a custom wedding cake for a same-sex couple. There will be another hearing on February 2,

Alex de Kloek Jesus drove the money lenders out of the temple with whips because they were an offence. What makes you think Jesus would approve supporting a homosexual relationship that is described as an abomination? Jesus calls us to love as people, not all behaviours. All of us who love someone - a parent, a child, a partner, a dear friend - knows there are times when that person wants to do something we KNOW is not good for them - eat too much junk food, do drugs, exceed the speed limit, punch out someone they're angry with. True love steps in and says 'No, i won't help you damage yourself.'

Sara Green Smith You don't go against God's Word. It plainly says that homosexuality is a sin and by making a cake or whatever for them as a couple, You are partaking in that sin. It's like saying you agree with their lifestyle and I don't think God would have baked them a cake either. God help us all to understand your word and live it!!

This is an idea of what I will say...

Any thoughts....

Hello everyone!

Thank you for coming to our time of prayer and praise. I hope each of you had a chance to have a sweet treat today. :) To begin, I would like to share a few thoughts ~~today~~ about ~~me and~~ God and myself.

We know that God created each of us with unique creative abilities, which we have already seen here today with Don and Jake and several others who have used their talents and gifts ~~in~~ through prayer and praise.

~~Our time today is not about~~ We are not here because of cakes and sexual orientation.

Those are just the catalyst that ~~has~~ have brought us together to face the real issue:

Religious Freedom, our First Amendment Rights, and the purpose of what we do.

Our nation was founded on men and women seeking religious freedom. Our Constitution has protected that Freedom with our First Amendment rights.

~~The purpose~~ Each of us have a purpose for ~~in~~ our life ~~story~~ and that is doing what God has created us to do.

God created me to honor and give glory to Him through design, decorating, music, education and many other adventures throughout my life.

He has lovingly and creatively given each one of you amazing talents and purposeful passions as well...

that is what makes you unique and beautiful. Over time you have each developed your own conscience and convictions based on what you believe to be important and true.

If anyone is forced to not follow their conscience, then we are no longer able to be who we were created to be. If we take the purpose away from what we do, then we are nothing more than robots. There ~~is no~~ would not be any passion, creativity, expression, or life meaning. Your conscience is what dictates who you are and why you do what you do. As a Christian, my heart and soul belong to Jesus; that cannot and will not change. That is why I do what I do, and live by the convictions I have.

Personally, I am incapable of doing something that knowingly would hurt or disrespect my Lord and Savior. It is as simple as that.

I cannot be a part of something that goes against my conscience, which is based on my spiritual beliefs, founded on the Bible. I would hope that as Americans, we can respect each other's beliefs and understand it is possible to live in a society where those that have strong religious convictions can honor God in every aspect of their life and work... and still love others who may not have those same convictions. At the same time, people who may not share the same convictions can still respect others and not force them into a situation where they ~~have to~~ must choose between their conscience and their life occupation.

We live in a country founded on Religious Freedom and we are One Nation Under God. Each time you salute our Flag, use your money, and ~~live~~ in honor of the ~~by your~~ Constitution of the United States of America you are saying, "In God we Trust". Those should not be just words they should be actions.

Let us pray that as a community we can show the nation that loving each

I hope through this prayer time, we can lay ~~before God~~ this tenuous situation before God and all parties can ~~see~~ agree that each person's convictions and conscience should be respected.

Lord, we ask you now to come into this place and give peace ~~and~~ ~~perseverance~~ to all here. Peace that you are in control and perseverance to follow our conscience. To live in honor of you each day, to put you first above all else. Lord, we know you are a God of love. Please help us to love those who persecute us and help us to show forgiveness when hurt by others. Lord we pray for your wisdom and discernment so that we may make ~~that we follow your word in loving others and making~~ wise choices. Father, thank you for your love and unconditional forgiveness. Amen.

I work in the wedding business. We see dissatisfied customers of theirs all the time. I've eaten cakes of theirs that were bland, dry, and ugly. Ultimately, they're passable but why give money to a bakery that's only mediocre at best, when they're also under the impression that they get to say "we don't serve your kind" to the public.

Yeah, that's a hard pass, regardless of your politics. You don't get to open a business and say you don't serve someone because of your personal beliefs. You sell to the public, that means you sell to everyone. You don't like it, you don't get to sell to the public. Religious freedoms end at the point where they infringe on others.

Here is how this needs to be handled.

Every same sex couple needs to get their wedding cake there. But only one person needs to go in to order the cake.

Then, when the wedding cake gets delivered. The couple takes a picture with the cake..... takes that picture and buys a huge ad in the newspaper..... THANKING TASTIES FOR BAKING THE WEDDING CAKE FOR THEIR SAME-SEX WEDDING.

And not just the paper, tag them on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram..... I'm talking full social media blitz

The owners will lose their shit in a matter of months. And I think it will be fucking hilarious

BREAKING: A judge ruled in favor of Tastries Bakery owner in the ongoing discrimination case where the baker refused to bake a cake for a same-sex couple. Judge rules the state cannot force owner, Cathy Miller, to directly go against her beliefs and bake a cake for the same-question but don't want to take the time to get the answer? Hmm. Ok. How about this...don't buy from them. Problem solved. Don't worry, I'm fat and give them plenty of business so it makes up it. If you don't want to support the legal defense (which no matter what you believe, you should VERY MUCH be concerned with assaults on our 1st amendment), don't donate to them. Being gay doesn't grant extra rights. You just have rights because they are God given, and the Constitution limits government interference with those rights. We all have the freedom of religion, gays and straight people alike, but you don't get to stomp on someone else's religious freedom because of the person with whom you choose to be in a relationship.

Listening to the owner of Tastrie's Bakery on the radio right now (I know, I must love the audio abuse). She has some interesting takes on what would be considered hurtful and offensive to the homeboy known as Lord Jesus Christ. To the appeal, amigos! 🇺🇸

The fact this bakery is going so low as to refuse service to willing paid customers BASED on their own preferences is horrendous! You don't deserve any service, and for someone with Christian values you sure have your priorities mixed up.

Avoid this place. There are much better options in the area. The owner refuses to sell to same sex couples.

Why not just accept the No and Go to another bakery where they would Have That Support of their marriage? As a Christian woman, you should understand where both sides are coming from (bakery included) and you should know what the bible says about marriage and who God designed marriage for. I'm not saying I don't see why any same sex couple would be hurt or upset because at the end of the day we are all people with feelings. The point I am trying to make is you are not just attacking the bakery itself for saying no. You are attacking a woman's personal faith and beliefs which she is entitled to iust

Following

which she is entitled to just as you are entitled to your opinion. So not everyone is going to agree with the ruling but it is what it is right now. If you don't want to support the bakery then simply don't. You are entitled to that choice. But there is no need to go an spread hate all over social media which you should also know is wrong. What happened to loving thy neighbor? And if you dont agree, simply give it to God and stop judging her choices because you aren't perfect either. Same here, I am not perfect. It's a sad situation all around because people are hurting from both sides. But God IS and WILL ALWAYS be victorious. :) 44m

Hello, I am not going to argue but I will state that in the bible God tells us not to judge by condemning but only to judge with love. God is the judge of all sin within everyone, myself included. The bible also clearly states a man is not to lay with another man which is why it goes against the belief to bake a cake supporting a marriage that they know is wrong in the eyes of God and it's their right to believe so. There are plenty of bakeries who will bake a cake for a couple of the same sex, so to drag Tasteries through the mud is just not right and it's an infringement of the constitutional rights we as believers have to deny or accept something because of our beliefs. We are to hate the sin but love the sinner...also says that in the bible. There are grounds to bible. There are grounds to which the bible says divorce is acceptable for example, unfaithfulness of a spouse. So if you are getting married a second time, the reasoning is between you and God. The bakery believes that marriage is between a man and a woman as the bible clearly states. So if they will bake a cake for your second marriage it might be because they know that there are reasons people get divorced that are clearly understandable. 1h

I am praying for you. I am praying that you act like a Christian, that your actions would mimic Jesus' in the most sincere way. I'm praying that you remember who Jesus spoke to and spent his time with. I'm praying that you will love unconditionally as Jesus asked. We are not to judge. We are to be compassionate. This is my prayer.
